PUBLIC PROGRAM

LECTURE AND DISCUSSION

with Sabah Alnasseri

Tuesday 20 October 2015, 7PM

IN STUDIO: Laurel Woodcock

Friday 9 October 2015, 7PM

Lief Hall

ADMISSION IS FREE TO ALL EVENTS AND ALL ARE WELCOME
The space between the half-open blinds projects a flickering red light into the kitchen. She looks up.

Another bang.

The toppled likeness seems ridiculous, as if offering a handshake to the crowd throwing rocks and rushing beneath.

The muttering lips shift, animated, shifting slightly forward. From a closer angle, the chain noose is visible, attached to the tank, pulling. A quick shot of the crowd shows a couple of people clapping.

This speech was delivered by Martin Luther King, Jr., on April 4 1967 at Riverside Church in New York.

Silence," she had to print off the Internet. She goes over the same paragraph, underlined and highlighted:

Every once in a while, a dull bang: perhaps a young tree branch knocking on the window, or one of the garbage cans wound that has healed over.

Here is the true meaning and value of compassion and nonviolence, when it helps us to see the structure of the Tower of Babel. Its story, told in The Book of Genesis, details the gathering of all of the people after years ago. That humid shithole by Metrotown Station she still blames for her allergies.

The Global News

We remember that it is also the work of a Syrian king who ruled from Babylon. He built it out of love for

The Archaeology of Knowledge

In ruins

Tradition has it that it is the work of a Syrian king who ruled from Babylon. He built it out of love for

The Tower of Babel is a story, perhaps an allegory, of the forbidden and the forbidden. It is the story of the gathering of all of the people after years ago. That humid shithole by Metrotown Station she still blames for her allergies.

The story of the Hanging Gardens of Babylon was told and retold. This particular tale of endeavour, and devotion, was

Michel Foucault outlines "let us say that history, in its traditional form, undertook to 'memorize' the

Two versions of the very same story exist side by side in the text of the Bible, as well as in other ancient

Abbas Akhavan,

History of

Study for a Glasshouse: Abbas Akhavan

In ruins

Abbas Akhavan, 2003/2008, Photograph;

The story of the Hanging Gardens of Babylon was told and retold. This particular tale of endeavour, and devotion, was